

Will All Ladies Remove Their Hats, And Men Remain Seated During The Cancan

Straight from the days when a glimpse of stocking was enough to make the Nineties naughty, comes the plot of "Lily, the Felon's Daughter," old-fashioned melodrama to be presented Saturday, March 3, at the Torrance high school auditorium, by ACCENT Theatre of Torrance.

This heart-touching saga of a maiden pure as the driven snow will be presented as a gala benefit show to wind-up the YMCA Fund Drive. All proceeds from the performance will go to the 'Y' fund.

Tickets entitling the audience to cheer the hero and hiss the villain may be obtained from Mr. Edward Schwartz at the Sam Levy Department Store, 1311 Sartori; or from Mrs. Paul Harestad of ACCENT Theatre! by calling FA. 8-5585.

In the style of the Nineties, when twice as much cost half the price, there will be variety entertainment between each act of the show, Jack Hudson, director, said.

Among the performers presenting the traditional "dazzling dances, lovable songs, and snappy patter" acts will be: Mary Smithhart, Ronnie Montelius, Iris Steffen, and Phyllis Foss.

The Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-Ray Girls will present a cancan dance guaranteed to leave them breathless, and slated to leave the audience in the same condition. Phyllis Foss, choreographer announced. The cancan line includes: Beverly Dyer, Ladeene Chamberlain, Julia Sagenkahn, Phyllis Kelsey, Anne Williamson, Dolores Steffen, and Ronnie Montelius.

Accompanists will be William Mallory and Kenny Perkin.

Cast Members
Talent from all over the South Bay area will appear in the cast of the melodrama. The Torrance 'Y' serves the towns from Hermosa to San Pedro, and it is fitting that residents from surrounding communities should participate in the drive to raise money for developing the 'Y' program, according to Mrs. Edward Schwartz, field chairman.

From Manhattan Beach will come Paul Matthews, Louetta Salsa, and members of the North American Quartette.

From Redondo will be Margaret Anderson, Loretta Lohr, Marion and Hal Lepper, Jean Grimes, Bert Folkhardt, and Lucille Abapian.

Torrance members of the cast are Carol Halpern and Charles Hackbusch.

Card Party

Mrs. Lillian Stern and Mrs. Irene Sparber will co-hostess a card party and Mah Jongg on Friday, March 2 at the Gardena Valley Jewish Center in Gardena.

Martini's Italian Delicatessen Will Celebrate Third Anniversary

A holiday in eating is in store for individuals browsing through Martini's Italian grocery stores which are celebrating their third anniversary this week-end.

In celebration of the event both stores will feature a number of specials this Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. The stores are located at 706 West Manchester in Inglewood and at 129 South Hawthorne avenue in Hawthorne. Martini's deals exclusively in imported and Italian foods and delicacies in the southwest area, according to Bob and Elmer Martini.

The stores carry an endless variety of delicacies including ricotta, mozzarella, aged provolone cheese, imported Romano cheese, Italian style tomatoes, tomato paste, Pizza sauce and Pizza dough.

Vintage wines from all over the world are available, as are imported olives, 30 varieties of imported beers and 50 varieties of local and imported macaroni, in addition to selections of Italian style sausage.

Martini's also carries all types of Italian pastries and cookies.

"We are happy that we have gained so many friends and customers in the past three years," the Martini brothers stated. "We would like all our friends and customers to know that we will continue to do our best to give them friendly, personalized service and make every effort to meet their needs and wishes."

Bob and Elmer Martini really mean what they say. Their wide selection of delicacies even includes fried grasshoppers, fried worms, snails, and rattle snake meat—for discriminating palates.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Campos, of 20508 New Hampshire, announce the birth of a son, Manuel Andrew, weighing 6 pounds and 3 ounces.

Collection Of Rummage Begins

Mrs. A. E. Palmer, chairman of the Torrance Woman's club rummage sale scheduled for Tuesday, April 17, has announced that anyone having articles to donate may call her at FA. 8-4339. The sale will be held at the club house.
